Chapter 1 by SaintSayaka

Today is the day that your father, Lord Akh'na, wants you to take over your first planet. You're already fourteen lunar years of age; it's about time to start your career as a ruthless conqueror. Maybe get married too, have some kids, start off your 401k. Make your mom proud, and all.

Personally, though, you'd be happy being an accountant.

Chapter 2 by Christopher Kropp

You start your new life as a private accountant for the people you conquer.

Chapter 3 by Coraline Castell

However your new dream is cut short by your father berating that, if you don't conquer two moons, five planets and one satellite by the end of the next lunar year, the task will be given to any of your 116 brothers instead. Only after you are successfully decapitated as per tradition, naturally.

Oh, bother.

Using your mad math skills, you obtain a lunarcycle for an incredibly low price and cycle out to a nearby moon. But upon arrival you realize the moon is the property of your archnemesis and sister, BLKAEusH. You curse under your breath, under your breath not because you fear her wrath, of course, but because you're out of breath from all that cycling.

She hears you, from the bowels of that lonely moon, and jumps on your head. You SCREAM! Not from unbearable, crushing terror of course... but because..... she's kind of just a teensy bit scary.

"Watcha doing out here, bro?" she sneers.

Chapter 5 by Harlander

"Blooky," you say, using the old pet name that bugs your sister so much these days, "So nice to bump into you like this." Trying to play it cool, like always.

Her sneer twists into a snarl, her mouth opening to reveal her outer circle of radulae. You never understood why she chose to have her perfectly normal mouth replaced by this horrible rotating nightmare of rough, grinding pseudo-tongues. There was a lot you don't understand about how your sister acts. Maybe that's why she rules this system with an iron... is that a fist? Are those even hands? ... while you're struggling to keep from being ritually dismembered as a family disgrace.

"You know what I do to interlopers, brooooo," she coos nastily, stretching out that last word. You do know - terms like "hyper-impaling", "agony sphere", and "interdimensional sentient rights atrocity" spring to mind.

"It's not like that!" you protest. "I just came here for some advice!"

Chapter 6 by SandyBeaches

"And stop calling me bro, I'm a girl," I add angrily. She snarls in response, "Oh yeah, well maybe I don't WANT to give you advice! Or stop calling you bro!" I try to think of something we have in

Chapter 7 by LuxCh3rry

"On one condition!" she shouts, as if she were a witch in a movie.

"What now?" i ask.

She grins, a horrifying sight when you have a circular mouth, "You have to make dad reconsider my... marriage options.."

Chapter 8 by Wonder Story - In College

We planned our attack for 3 lunar days and nights.

I was going to capture the Planet Solar. When I capture it, I'll attain its 2 moons, 4 conquered planets, and its 3 satellites.

As my army, my sister's army, and my terrifying sister were on our way to the Planet Solar, I stopped by my father's lunar estate.

I found him and told him about my quest. He said he was proud but I was pretty sure he thought I would fail. My sister went to her betrothed's lunar abode and killed him, blaming it on one of her loyal minions.

After the visit, we went to conquer the Planet Solar. But when we arrived, the scouts told us that the rulers were dead and the planets were in chaos. Perfect.

My sister and I easily overtook the planet and acquired its conquerings.

And guess what? The planet was in need of a financial advisor, and my assistant was very cute.
